

Special Issue on Microbes, Infection and Disease

Call for Papers

Microbes, Infection and Disease is an interdisciplinary academic field that investigates microorganisms, their interactions with hosts, and their roles in infectious diseases. It covers microbial biology, pathogenesis, host–microbe interactions, immune responses, antimicrobial resistance, diagnostics and disease prevention. Integrating microbiology, immunology, molecular biology, epidemiology and clinical medicine, the field aims to understand infectious disease mechanisms and develop effective approaches for diagnosis, treatment, prevention and public health.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Microbes, Infection and Disease. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Clinical Microbiology & Diagnostics
- Host–Microbe Interactions
- Microbial Pathogenesis and Virulence
- Bacteriology and Bacterial Diseases
- Virology and Viral Infections
- Medical Mycology and Fungal Infections
- Parasitology and Parasitic Diseases
- Immunology of Infection
- Antimicrobial Resistance and Therapeutics
- Infectious Disease Epidemiology and Public Health
- Microbial Genomics and Evolution
- Vaccinology
- HIV Infection
- Infection Control and Prevention
- Biofilms, Chronic Wounds and Medical Device-Associated Infection
- Diagnostic Technologies and Emerging Infectious Diseases

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Microbes, Infection and Disease” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:
