

Special Issue on Economic Development and Productivity
Call for Papers

Economic Development and Productivity examines the factors, policies, and strategies that promote sustainable economic growth, improve productivity, and enhance the efficiency and competitiveness of industries and economies. It covers topics such as economic policy, innovation, labor productivity, human capital, technological advancement, entrepreneurship, industrial development, international trade, investment, digital transformation, and resource allocation. The field integrates economic theory, quantitative analysis, and policy evaluation to support inclusive growth, strengthen economic resilience, and improve long-term social and economic well-being.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Economic Development and Productivity. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Economic growth
- Productivity analysis
- Industrial development
- Labor productivity
- Human capital development
- Technological innovation
- Entrepreneurship development
- Regional economic development
- International trade
- Foreign direct investment
- Sustainable economic development
- Digital economy
- Economic policy analysis
- Resource allocation
- Infrastructure development
- Inclusive economic growth

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - *Economic Development and Productivity” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	October 31st, 2026
Publication Date	June 2026

Guest Editor:

Dr. Qingyang Wu
University of California, USA

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at ajibm@scirp.org.