

Special Issue on Online Distance Education

Call for Papers

Online distance education is means of education which involves internet or electronic media. In the last ten years, distance education has had the support of state governors and information industry leaders. Almost all institutions of higher education have created high-profile programs for distant learners. A new elearning industry has emerged. Distance education is at a critical point in its history. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of online distance education.

In this special issue, we invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles that explore online distance education. In this special issue, potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Distance education systems and theories
- Management, organization and technology
- Teaching and learning in distance education
- Globalization, culture and online distance education
- Quality assurance in online distance education
- Online distance education vs campus-based teaching

Authors should read over the journal's Authors' Guidelines carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Online Distance Education” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue timetable:

Submission Deadline	May 29th, 2015
Publication Date	July 2015

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries
Please contact Editorial Assistant at ce@scirp.org