

Special Issue on Education and Skills Development

Call for Papers

Education and Skills Development is an academic field focused on the enhancement of knowledge, competencies, and talents through structured learning experiences. This field encompasses traditional schooling, vocational training and lifelong learning opportunities, aiming to equip individuals with the skills needed for personal growth, workforce readiness and active citizenship. It explores innovative teaching methods, curriculum design, and educational technologies to adapt to changing societal needs and economic landscapes, fostering critical thinking, problem-solving, and adaptability.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Education and Skills Development. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Learning skills and styles
- Curriculum development and instruction
- Cognitive and creative skill development
- Critical thinking and problem-solving skills
- Collaboration, innovation and leadership
- Academic skill and achievement
- Learning theories and educational psychology
- Social interpersonal skills
- Social skills
- Inclusive education and equity in skills development
- Skills assessment and competency evaluation
- Language acquisition and literacy development
- Teacher education and professional development
- Early childhood education and development
- Adult education and lifelong learning
- Vocational education and skills development
- Educational technology and digital skills
- Policy and governance in education and training
- International and comparative education

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Education and Skills Development” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	July 26th, 2026
Publication Date	September 2026

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

CE Editorial Office