
Special Issue on Herbal Medicine

Call for Papers

Herbal Medicine studies the therapeutic use of plants and plant-derived substances for the prevention and treatment of diseases. It explores the pharmacological properties, active compounds, safety and efficacy of medicinal herbs used in traditional and modern healthcare systems. The field integrates botany, pharmacology and clinical research to evaluate herbal remedies, standardize formulations, and understand their mechanisms of action in promoting health and well-being.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Herbal Medicine. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Pharmacognosy
- Phytochemistry
- Herbal pharmacology
- Pharmaceutical analysis and technology
- Herbal toxicology and safety
- Pharmacoepidemiology
- Clinical herbal medicine
- Herbal medicine in chronic disease management
- Traditional and ethnobotanical medicine
- Herbal pharmacokinetics
- Herbal medicine in public health
