

Special Issue on Brain, Cognition and Behavior

Call for Papers

Brain, Cognition and Behavior is an interdisciplinary field that studies how brain structure and function relate to mental processes and observable behavior. It integrates neuroscience, psychology and cognitive science to understand perception, memory, learning, decision-making and emotion. The field examines how neural mechanisms support cognition and how brain disorders or injuries affect behavior, with applications in mental health, education and neurorehabilitation.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Brain, Cognition and Behavior. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Cognitive neuroscience
- Behavioral neuroscience
- Memory and learning systems
- Cognitive neuropsychology
- Clinical neuropsychology
- Neuropsychology of behavioral disorders
- Psychophysics and sensory neuroscience
- Decision-making and executive function
- Sensation, attention and perception
- Emotion and affective neuroscience
- Developmental cognitive neuroscience
- Computational modeling of cognition
- Social neuroscience
- Cognitive aging and neurodegenerative disorders
- Comparative cognition
- Cognitive rehabilitation
- Behavioral and brain functions
- Neurolinguistics
- Depression and anxiety
- ADHD

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Brain, Cognition and Behavior” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	September 16th, 2026
Publication Date	November 2026

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

JBBS Editorial Office