

Special Issue on Anesthesia and Perioperative Care

Call for Papers

Anesthesia and Perioperative Care is a specialized field of medicine dedicated to the comprehensive management of patients before, during, and after surgical procedures. It encompasses anesthetic techniques, pain management, patient monitoring, critical care, and strategies to optimize surgical outcomes and patient safety. The field integrates advances in pharmacology, medical technology, and perioperative medicine to ensure effective anesthesia delivery, minimize complications, and enhance recovery. Research in anesthesia and perioperative care addresses topics such as airway management, perioperative risk assessment, enhanced recovery protocols, intensive care, and personalized approaches to surgical patient care, contributing to improved healthcare quality and clinical outcomes.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Anesthesia and Perioperative Care. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- General anesthesia
- Regional anesthesia
- Local anesthesia
- Perioperative medicine
- Pain management
- Critical care anesthesia
- Cardiothoracic anesthesia
- Neuroanesthesia
- Pediatric anesthesia
- Obstetric anesthesia
- Geriatric anesthesia
- Airway management
- Perioperative monitoring
- Ambulatory anesthesia
- Intensive care medicine
- Enhanced recovery after surgery

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Anesthesia and Perioperative Care” should be selected during your submission.
