

Special Issue on Sustainable Finance and Investment

Call for Papers

Sustainable Finance and Investment examines financial strategies, markets, and investment practices that integrate environmental, social, and governance (ESG) considerations with long-term economic performance. The field explores sustainable investment approaches, green and climate finance, impact investing, responsible banking, corporate sustainability, and risk management to support resilient and inclusive economic development. It also addresses sustainable financial policies, carbon markets, climate-related financial disclosure, and innovative financing mechanisms that promote the transition to low-carbon economies while balancing financial returns with social and environmental value.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Sustainable Finance and Investment. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Sustainable finance
- Responsible investment
