
Special Issue on Economic and Social Development

Call for Papers

Economic and social development is the process of improving the economic well-being and quality of life of a country, region, local community or individual according to targeted goals and objectives. In order to seek economic development, it is necessary to maintain stable economic growth. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Economic and Social Development.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Economic and Social Development. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- International economics and economic policy
- Economic analysis and strategic management
- Economic development and ethnicity
- Sustainable economic development
- Theories of development economics
- Economic growth and development
- Regional economic and industrial development
- Urban economics and planning
- Environmental economy

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Economic and Social Development” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	February 10th , 2021
Publication Date	April 2021

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at jss@scirp.org.