Special Issue on Information Society and Management

Call for Papers

Information society is also often referred to as the knowledge society. In the information society, information has become a more important resource than material and energy. Due to the extensive application of information technology in all aspects of society, it has a huge and profound impact on economic and social development. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Information Society and Management.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Information Society and Management. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- E-commerce and business processes
- Information economics
- Information resources
- Information technology and applications
- Information revolution
- Network society
- Information systems management
- Education and knowledge information
- Law and policy for the information society

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the "Special Issue" under your manuscript title. The research field "Special Issue - *Information Society and Management" should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	August 7th, 2021
Publication Date	October 2021

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at jss@scirp.org.