

Special Issue on Social and Personal Relationships

Call for Papers

Social relations are the general term for the mutual relations formed by people in the process of common material and spiritual activities, that is, all relations between people. Among all social relations, production relations are the most basic and most important relations. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Social and Personal Relationships.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Social and Personal Relationships. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Interpersonal relationship
- Social relations and life satisfaction
- Social interaction
- Relationship maintenance
- Public relations
- Public relations and psychology
- International relations
- Political relations
- Economic and labour relations
- Relations of production
- Legal relation

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Social and Personal Relationships” should be selected during your submission.
