

Special Issue on Ethnic and Cultural Studies

Call for Papers

Cultural and Ethnic Studies explores the diverse experiences, identities, and expressions of ethnic groups and cultures across historical and contemporary contexts. This issue invites interdisciplinary research that examines race, ethnicity, migration, language, tradition, social justice, and cultural representation. By highlighting both global and localized perspectives, the issue aims to deepen understanding of how cultural dynamics shape communities, influence policy, and impact social structures. Contributions may include theoretical analyses, case studies, and comparative works that contribute to ongoing conversations around identity, diversity, and inclusion.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Ethnic and Cultural Studies. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Cultural assimilation
- Cultural heritage
- Cultural policy and politics
- Cultural representation
- Diaspora studies
- Ethnic conflict
- Ethnic identity
- Ethnic literature
- Globalization and culture
- Indigenous studies
- Intercultural communication
- Language and identity
- Migration and culture
- Minority rights
- Multicultural education
- Popular culture and ethnicity
- Postcolonial studies
- Race and ethnicity
- Ritual and belief systems
- Traditional customs

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - *Ethnic and Cultural Studies” should be selected during your submission.
