Special Issue on Sustainable Growth and Environmental Responsibility

Call for Papers

Sustainable Growth and Environmental Responsibility addresses the balance between economic development, social progress, and environmental protection to ensure long-term global sustainability. The field explores sustainable production and consumption, renewable energy, green technologies, environmental governance, climate change mitigation, and responsible resource management while promoting economic resilience and ecological preservation. It encourages interdisciplinary approaches that integrate innovation, policy development, corporate responsibility, and community engagement to support sustainable societies, reduce environmental impacts, and enhance the well-being of present and future generations.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Sustainable Growth and Environmental Responsibility. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Sustainable development
- Environmental management
- Renewable energy systems
- Green economy studies
- Climate change mitigation
- Sustainable resource management
- Environmental policy and governance
- Ecological conservation
- Sustainable urban development
- Circular economy practices
- Corporate sustainability
- Green technology innovation
- Waste management systems
- Environmental impact assessment
- Sustainable agriculture
- Energy efficiency engineering

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Sustainable Growth and Environmental Responsibility” should be selected during your submission.
