

Special Issue on Health, Quality of Life and Social Development

Call for Papers

Health, Quality of Life and Social Development focuses on the complex relationships between health, well-being, quality of life, and social progress at individual, community, and population levels. The field examines public health, health promotion, healthcare access, social determinants of health, health inequalities, mental and physical well-being, healthy aging, social inclusion, and community development. It also explores how social, economic, environmental, and policy factors influence health outcomes and quality of life. By integrating perspectives from public health, social sciences, healthcare, economics, and development studies, this field aims to support equitable health systems, enhance human well-being, strengthen communities, and promote inclusive and sustainable social development.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Health, Quality of Life and Social Development. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Public health
- Health promotion
- Health equity
- Quality of life
- Social determinants
- Community health
- Healthcare access
- Health inequalities
- Mental health
- Healthy aging
- Population health
- Social inclusion
- Community development
- Human development
- Health policy
- Social well-being

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - *Health, Quality of Life and Social Development” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	January 5th, 2027
Publication Date	March 2027

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at jss@scirp.org.