

Special Issue on Practical Concern and Global Social Challenges

Call for Papers

Practical Concern and Global Social Challenges addresses pressing issues that affect communities, institutions, and societies in an increasingly interconnected world. It considers poverty, inequality, migration, demographic change, education, employment, social exclusion, public welfare, cultural transformation, and the consequences of economic and technological change. Attention is given to practical approaches for understanding social needs, strengthening community resilience, improving social policies, and developing inclusive responses to complex challenges at local, national, and international levels.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Practical Concern and Global Social Challenges. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Poverty and inequality
- Social welfare and protection
- Migration and displacement
- Population and demographic change
- Education and social development
- Employment and labor markets
- Gender and social inclusion
- Community development
- Human rights and social justice
- Cultural diversity and integration
- Public policy and governance
- Globalization and social change
- Digital society and inequality
- Urbanization and social transformation
- Conflict, peace, and security
- Sustainable social development

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Practical Concern and Global Social Challenges” should be selected during your submission.
