

Special Issue on Regional Economics

Call for Papers

Regional economics is a sub-discipline of economics that focuses on economic issues with a regional dimension. It discusses recent economic developments and prospects for countries in various regions, economic policies that affect economic performance in the regions, challenges faced by policymakers and so on.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Regional Economics. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Regional economic growth
- Regional economies and policies
- Municipal aid evaluation and reform
- Urban economics
- District finance
- Theory of external economies

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Regional Economics” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	June 15th, 2017
Publication Date	August 2017

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at me@scirp.org.