

Special Issue on Consumption and Economics

Call for Papers

Consumption is the value of goods and services bought by people, which is a major concept in economics and is also studied by many other social sciences. It is normally the largest GDP component. People often judge the economic performance of their country mainly in terms of consumption level and dynamics.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Consumption and Economics. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Consumption function
- Behavioural economics and consumption
- Consumption and household production
- Effects of consumption
- Goods/services and demand
- Energy economics

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Consumption and Economics” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	February 15th, 2017
Publication Date	March 2017
