Special Issue on

Business, Management & Information Technology

Call for Papers

Organizations are increasingly relying on information technology to carry out key business functions. IT is a key part of every business, from small businesses run by a single person to huge multi-national corporations. Computer technology is used across the business world in every department and has become vital to business operations in the modern world.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Business, Management & Information Technology. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Business information systems
- E-commerce and business networks
- Business and computer technology
- Information technology in business management
- Knowledge management
- Business intelligence
- Accounting information systems
- Internet marketing and digital economy
- Digital business solutions
- Data collection and analysis
- Database management
- Business information security
- Enterprise resource planning
- Supply chain management
- Economics of internet of things

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Business, Management & Information Technology” should be chosen during your submission.
