
Special Issue on

Organizational and Business Management

Call for Papers

Organizational and Business Management is an interdisciplinary academic field that studies the planning, coordination, and control of organizational resources and activities to achieve strategic objectives and improve performance. It encompasses topics such as leadership, organizational behavior, human resource management, operations, strategy, innovation and decision-making. The field integrates theories from management, economics, psychology and sociology to enhance organizational effectiveness, competitiveness and sustainability in dynamic business environments.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Organizational and Business Management. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Organizational behavior and effectiveness
- Strategic management
- Financial and managerial decision-making
- Organizational dynamics
- Operations management
- Financial management
- Marketing management
- Entrepreneurship and innovation
- Corporate governance
- Leadership on organizational development
- Corporate social responsibility
