

Special Issue on Clinical Gastroenterology and Hepatology

Call for Papers

Clinical Gastroenterology and Hepatology addresses the diagnosis, management, and prevention of disorders affecting the digestive tract, liver, biliary system, and pancreas. It considers advances in clinical assessment, laboratory investigation, imaging, endoscopic procedures, pharmacological treatment, and minimally invasive interventions for gastrointestinal and hepatic conditions. Particular attention is given to inflammatory, infectious, metabolic, neoplastic, and functional disorders, as well as complications of chronic liver disease, digestive cancers, and disorders of the gastrointestinal microbiome, with an emphasis on improving patient outcomes and clinical care.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Clinical Gastroenterology and Hepatology. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Gastrointestinal disorders
- Hepatobiliary diseases
- Inflammatory bowel diseases
- Gastrointestinal oncology
- Liver cirrhosis
- Viral hepatitis
- Metabolic liver diseases
- Pancreatic diseases
- Biliary tract disorders
- Gastrointestinal endoscopy
- Digestive tract infections
- Gastrointestinal bleeding
- Functional gastrointestinal disorders
- Gastrointestinal microbiome
- Liver transplantation
- Nutritional gastroenterology

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Clinical Gastroenterology and Hepatology” should be selected during your submission.
