

Special Issue on Older People Nursing

Call for Papers

As medical advances become more sophisticated, average life expectancies continue to grow. This presents significant challenges to the healthcare system, and caring for older people is now the concern of every nurse.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original researches and review articles on exploring older people nursing. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Vulnerability and old age
- Nursing for well-being in later life
- Physical and psychosocial aspects of ageing
- Mental health and emotional well-being in later life
- Ageing in a multicultural society
- Social isolation and loneliness in later life
- Collaboration when working with older people

Authors should read over the journal's Authors' Guidelines carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal at Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue – Older People Nursing” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue timetable:

Submission Deadline	December 20th, 2016
Publication Date	February 2017
