

Special Issue on Infertility & Reproductive Medicine

Call for Papers

Infertility & Reproductive Medicine studies the biological, medical, and technological aspects of human reproduction, focusing on diagnosing, treating and preventing infertility. The field integrates reproductive endocrinology, assisted reproductive technologies (ART) such as IVF, male and female fertility assessment, and hormonal therapies. It also examines genetic, physiological and lifestyle factors affecting fertility, aiming to improve reproductive outcomes, support family planning, and advance knowledge in prenatal care, reproductive health and ethical considerations in reproductive medicine.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Infertility & Reproductive Medicine. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Assisted reproductive technologies (ART)
- Reproductive endocrinology
- Reproductive surgery
- Reproductive immunology
- Genetics and reproductive medicine
- Fertility preservation
- Embryology and early development
- Recurrent pregnancy loss & implantation failure
- Recurrent implantation failure and endometrial receptivity
- Polycystic ovary syndrome
- Endometriosis
- Reproductive disorders and therapy
- Innovative reproductive technologies
- Prenatal and perinatal care in infertility
- Lifestyle and environmental impacts on fertility
- Public health and reproductive epidemiology

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Infertility & Reproductive Medicine” should be chosen during your submission.
