

Special Issue on Politics and Society

Call for Papers

Politics and Society encompasses conflicts over the shape of social life, no matter within the family or in the realms of the state and the world. It covers various fields including the political science, economics, sociology, history, psychology, linguistics, law, anthropology, cultural and area studies, and development studies. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Politics and Society.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Politics and Society. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Elections and voting
- Environment, politics and practice
- Geopolitics
- Moral and political philosophy
- Political economy
- Political participation
- Power, politics, and society
- Social and political movements
- Social relations and policy

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Politics and Society” should be selected during your submission.
