

Special Issue on
Environmental Policy and Sustainable Governance
Call for Papers

Environmental Policy and Sustainable Governance addresses the development, implementation, and evaluation of policies, regulations, and governance frameworks that promote environmental protection and sustainable development. It encompasses environmental legislation, climate policy, natural resource management, biodiversity conservation, environmental economics, and institutional governance at local, national, and global levels. Integrating perspectives from environmental science, public policy, economics, law, and political science, this field supports evidence-based decision-making, stakeholder engagement, and cross-sector collaboration to address environmental challenges, enhance resilience, and achieve long-term sustainability goals.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Environmental Policy and Sustainable Governance. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Environmental policy
- Sustainable governance
