

Special Issue on Social & Personality Psychology

Call for Papers

Social & Personality Psychology is an academic field that examines how individuals think, feel and behave in relation to themselves and others. It explores personality traits, social cognition, attitudes, emotions, interpersonal relationships, group dynamics and social influence. Integrating theories and methods from psychology and behavioral science, the field investigates how individual differences and social environments interact to shape human behavior, mental processes and well-being across diverse cultural and social contexts.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Social & Personality Psychology. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Social cognition
- Personality and behaviors
- Personality traits & structure
- Personality assessment and measurement
- Interpersonal & close relationships
- Group dynamics
- Attitudes and persuasion
- Self and identity
- Emotion & motivation
- Goals and self-regulation
- Social influence and conformity
- Cultural and cross-cultural psychology
- Personality development
- Prosocial & antisocial behavior
- Personality traits and individual differences
- Personality and emotional intelligence
- Family function and personality traits
- Personality disorders
- Applied social and personality psychology

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Social & Personality Psychology” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	October 19th, 2026
Publication Date	December 2026

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

PSYCH Editorial Office