

Special Issue on Mental Health & Psychological Study

Call for Papers

Mental Health & Psychological Study is an interdisciplinary field examining psychological processes, emotional well-being, behavior and mental health across the lifespan. It covers mental health disorders, stress and resilience, cognition, personality, social and behavioral psychology, psychological assessment, prevention, and evidence-based interventions. Research in this field aims to deepen understanding of psychological functioning, identify factors affecting mental well-being, and develop effective approaches to support individual and population mental health.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Mental Health & Psychological Study. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Clinical psychology and psychopathology
- Counseling and psychotherapy
- Cognitive and behavioral psychology
- Developmental and lifespan psychology
- Psychological interventions and therapies
- Stress, trauma and coping studies
- Depression and anxiety
- Health psychology and behavioral medicine
- Positive psychology, resilience and well-being
- Personality & individual differences
- Cognitive behavioral therapy
- Early detection and prevention of mental disorders
- Psychological assessment and psychometrics
- Mental health education and promotion
- Social psychology and mental well-being
- Neuropsychology and mental health
- Cultural and cross-cultural psychology
- Prevention and public mental health
- Occupational & organizational psychology
- Digital mental health & technology-based interventions

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Mental Health & Psychological Study” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	November 22nd, 2026
Publication Date	January 2027

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

PSYCH Editorial Office