

Special Issue on Accounting, Finance & Economics

Call for Papers

Accounting, Finance & Economics is an interdisciplinary academic field that explores how individuals, organizations, and markets manage resources, make financial decisions, and allocate capital efficiently. It integrates accounting principles, financial management, and economic theory to analyze performance, risk, and policy impacts. The field informs decision-making in business, government, and society by examining financial reporting, investment strategies, market behavior, economic development, and regulatory frameworks.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Accounting, Finance & Economics. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Financial accounting and reporting
- Managerial and cost accounting
- Corporate finance and investment analysis
- Financial markets and institutions
- Auditing & assurance
- Behavioral finance and economic psychology
- Macroeconomics and economic policy
- Microeconomics and market behavior
- International finance and economics
- Auditing and corporate governance
- Financial technology (FinTech) and innovation
- Econometrics (economics/finance/accounting)
- Accounting theory and practice
- Risk management and insurance
- Investment analysis and portfolio management
- Financial statement analysis

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Accounting, Finance & Economics” should be chosen during your submission.
