

Special Issue on Microeconomic Theory and Applications
Call for Papers

Microeconomic Theory and Applications is an academic field that studies the behavior and decision-making of individuals, households, firms and markets under conditions of scarcity and incentives. It examines topics such as consumer choice, production, pricing, market structures, game theory and resource allocation. By integrating theoretical models with empirical analysis, the field provides insights into market behavior, public policy, business strategy and economic outcomes across diverse sectors and industries.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Microeconomic Theory and Applications. Potential topics include, but are not limited to

- Behavioral microeconomics
- Empirical microeconomics and structural estimation
- Consumer theory & demand analysis
- Producer theory and firm behavior
- Market structures and competition
- Game theory and strategic interaction
- Information economics and strategic communication
- Labor economics and human capital
- Industrial organization and business strategy
- Public economics and market failure
- Applied microeconomics and policy analysis
- Mechanism design and implementation theory
- Production and cost analysis
- Microeconomic policy and decision-making
- Microeconomic mechanism for economic growth
- General equilibrium & welfare economics

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – *Microeconomic Theory and Applications” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	October 31st, 2026
Publication Date	December 2026

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

TEL Editorial Office