

Special Issue on Accounting, Finance & Economics

Call for Papers

Accounting, Finance & Economics is an interdisciplinary field that examines financial reporting, investment, financial markets, economic systems, and business decision-making. It encompasses accounting theory and practice, corporate finance, investment management, financial economics, macroeconomics, microeconomics and economic policy. The field integrates theoretical, quantitative and empirical approaches to understand financial and economic behavior, support effective decision-making, and address contemporary challenges in business, markets and economic development.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Accounting, Finance & Economics. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Financial Accounting and Reporting
- Accounting Theory and Practice
- Management Accounting and Cost Management
- Corporate Finance and Financial Management
- Investment and Portfolio Management
- Banking and Financial Markets
- Financial Economics and Econometrics
- Behavioral Finance and Economics
- Macroeconomics and Economic Policy
