

Special Issue on Economic Theory, Modeling and Analytical Methods
Call for Papers

Economic Theory, Modeling and Analytical Methods is an interdisciplinary field that explores economic principles, mathematical models, and analytical techniques for understanding complex economic phenomena. It covers microeconomic and macroeconomic theory, equilibrium analysis, optimization, econometrics, dynamic modeling and computational methods. The field applies rigorous theoretical and quantitative approaches to study markets, economic behavior, policy, growth and resource allocation, supporting both theoretical advances and practical decision-making in economics.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Economic Theory, Modeling and Analytical Methods. Potential topics include, but are not limited to

- Microeconomic Theory and Applications
- Macroeconomic Theory and Economic Dynamics
- Econometrics and Statistical Modeling
- Mathematical Economics and Economic Modeling
- Predictive Analytics in Economics
- Pricing Strategies & Models
- Customer Behavior and Customer Analytics
- Economic Equilibrium and General Equilibrium Theory
- Optimization and Decision Theory in Economics
- Econometrics and Quantitative Economic Analysis
- Computational Economics and Simulation
- Game Theory and Strategic Decision-Making
- Economic Growth, Development and Dynamic Modeling
- Economic Policy Analysis and Quantitative Methods
- Industrial Organization Theory

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – *Economic Theory, Modeling and Analytical Methods” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	November 30th, 2026
Publication Date	January 2027
