

Special Issue on
Clinical Neuroscience: Research and Practice
Call for Papers

Clinical Neuroscience: Research and Practice is an interdisciplinary field investigating the structure, function and disorders of the nervous system, with an emphasis on clinical applications. It encompasses neurological and psychiatric disorders, neuroimaging, cognitive neuroscience, neurophysiology, clinical diagnosis and therapeutic interventions. The field integrates basic neuroscience, translational research and clinical practice to advance understanding of brain function, improve diagnostic accuracy, develop effective treatments, and enhance patient care and neurological outcomes.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Clinical Neuroscience: Research and Practice. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Clinical Neurology and Neurological Disorders
- Clinical Neurosurgery
- Neuropsychiatry and Mental Health
- Cognitive Neuroscience and Brain Function
- Neuroimaging and Brain Mapping
- Neurophysiology and Electrophysiology
- Neurodegenerative Diseases and Dementia
- Cerebrovascular Neuroscience and Stroke
- Neuroimmunology and Autoimmune Disorders
- Neurogenetics and Molecular Neuroscience
- Neuropharmacology and Therapeutic Development
- Neurorehabilitation and Recovery
- Pain Neuroscience and Clinical Pain Management
- Pediatric and Developmental Neuroscience
- Neuro-oncology and Brain Tumor Research
- Epilepsy and Clinical Neurophysiology
- Sleep Neuroscience and Sleep Disorders
- Neurocritical Care and Acute Neurological Conditions
- Computational Neuroscience and Artificial Intelligence
- Translational Neuroscience and Clinical Trials
- Behavioral Neuroscience and Neuropsychology

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission.

Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Clinical Neuroscience: Research and Practice” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	January 28th, 2027
Publication Date	March 2027
